BACKWOODS

Backwoods cigars have been a huge hit since they were first launched in the USA in 1981. They are machine made using 100% premium natural tobacco and are famous for their distinctive rustic appearance. 'Wild & Mild' they have a tapered body with a frayed end and unfinished head. The rustically designed airtight foil pouch locks in the moisture and maintains their aroma.

CHARATAN

EST. 1863

In 1863 Frederick Charatan, opened a shop in Mansell Street, London where he began to carve Meerschaum pipes. These got very popular very quickly and Charatan moved to a bigger workshop in Prescott Street. Here he began to make the briar pipes that made the name Charatan world famous. On the retirement of his father in 1910 Reuben Charatan took over the family business and the business was wholly owned by the Charatan family until 1960, when it was purchased by Dunhill Tobacco of London (BAT).

Tor purchased the brand name in 2017 from BAT and set about launching a new range of quality Pipe Tobacco blends in December 2018 for the British Market.

Since its launch, Charatan has been very well received by the UK Pipe Smoking Community and is now a permanent part of their staple diet, resulting in increased sales year on year for the Specialist Retailer.

Such has been the interest in the blends and the Charatan story from around the world, Charatan Pipe Tobacco can now be found on sale in 10 countries.

Charatan Rolls 50g

The luxury tobacco composition that is prepared to produce these rolls of tobacco is based on high quality, carefully selected, ripe Virginia tobacco, finished with some traditional cured Perique and Cavendish tobacco. This allows the pipe smoker to sprinkle and mix the tobacco to satisfy their own taste.

Cigaragua

A cigar book dedicated to Nicaraguan Cigars from Joya de Nicaragua, A.J. Fernandez, My Father Cigars, Drew Estate, Oliva and Padrón.

"Cuba has the reputation but Nicaragua has the cigars. Experts know that Nicaragua's advance as cigar country has been unstoppable for years. The Central American Country has a fabulous climate, fertile soil and – maybe most importantly – the right people to make great cigars. This book is not so much about cigars, but above all about (some) of the people who make them.

Writers Marcel Langedijk and photographer Jesaja Hizkia immersed themselves in Estelí, Nicaragua, the cigar capital of the world and visited many legendary cigar makers. From classic companies like Padrón and Joya de Nicaragua to the ridiculously cool Drew Estate and relative newcomers like Espinosa Cigars.

A breath taking account of the current No 1 cigar country."

Around the World in 80 Cigars

Renowned author and cigar writer Nick Hammond is probably well known to you all; he's been a columnist for Cigar Journal for many years, was the inaugural winner of the Spectator Cigar Writer of the Year Award back in 2013, pens cigar and luxury articles for publications around the world and has long been a supporter of the UK cigar trade in general. His new book charts a quarter century of his life as a roving reporter; a compendium of weird, wonderful, poignant and poetic stories which will amuse, entertain and inspire. As well as high-lighting a host of cigars from every corner of the cigarmaking globe, Hammond takes us on a breathless tour of some of the world's most amazing people, places and perspectives. Ever wondered what it's like to walk through a Bosnian minefield? Play tug of war with a Nile crocodile on the Limpopo River? Dive with Great White Sharks off South Africa, sail in a hot air balloon over Cognac or trek the rainforests of Borneo? These, and many more remarkable tales, are retold with tongue firmly in cheek and each and every story is trailed by the waft of fine cigar smoke.

A must read for the cigar man or woman and a wonderful gift from a thoughtful friend or relative, Around The World In 80 Cigars – The Travels Of An Epicure is a beautifully presented, luxurious hardback journal, featuring stunning original black and white hand drawings from renowned artist Sam Bridge and silk ribbon page marker.

Nick Hammond has pledged ten per cent of the profits from Around The World In 80 Cigars – The Travels Of An Epicure to Fe y Alegria in Nicaragua. Faith & Happiness, as it is translated, is a Christian charity working on behalf of underprivileged children. In Nicaragua's cigar capital of Estelí, the charity runs a hugely important school giving local children – many of whom may not otherwise stay in education much beyond their 12th birthday – the opportunity to continue to study and build a better life for themselves and their families. Tor Imports has similarly agreed to donate £1 for every copy of Around The World In 80 Cigars purchased back to Fe y Alegria.

Oriental Gin

Nick Hammond has personally blended Oriental Cigar Gin for luxury English label, Leggets, as part of a new series of collaborations which will bear the Leggets x Nick Hammond label. The spirit is believed to be the first ever gin specifically designed to accompany a fine cigar.

"If I'm honest, I've never had a lot of success pairing gin and cigars in the past, although I know a lot of cigar lovers often put the two together" said Hammond, "but it was nothing short of luck which brought me to a conversation with an eminent British gin distiller one day and it got me thinking. Since then we've worked painstakingly to create something really unique; something we feel does both cigar and gin justice, without one overpowering the other".

While Hammond says the exact ingredients are a closely guarded secret, he does concede that the name Oriental came about in part because of certain spices used in the blend.

"I have some links with the East, not least because my mother was born in Darjeeling and I include a chapter on London's Oriental Club in my last book' he says 'One of the Directors of Leggets is of Indian heritage too, so it seemed somehow natural that the gin eventually began to lean in that direction. I think it is the addition of Eastern spices—alongside the pairing back of Juniper, which I personally think 'clangs' quite badly with a cigar, and raising the percentage alcohol by volume – which lifts our gin into something utterly unique. You have to taste it to appreciate it".

The next spirit to be crafted by Nick Hammond & Leggets, Oriental Rose Gin has been carefully blended to complement exquisite Asian cuisine.

Rose water is one of the great secret ingredients of Asian cooking: world-famous dishes like Biryani, for example, reach their dizzying peak of flavour with the judicious addition of rose water, itself a by-product of the ancient distillation of rose petals destined for the perfume trade. With this delightful, gentle, dry London Gin, you will find the merest hint of rose – in addition to subtle Asian spices.

Whether drunk neat, on the rocks, as part of a gin and tonic or in another cocktail, Leggets Oriental Rose Gin cools and refreshes the palate and enhances the splendid flavours of the Orient.

RON Flor de Caña

Flor De Caña is naturally aged in small white bourbon barrels sealed with plantain leaves, producing a distinguished and elegant rum with tropical notes. This uninterrupted ageing process has been known for more than a decade as Slow-Aged™, contributing to the rum's remarkable amber colour and rich flavour without the aid of accelerants, unnatural additives and with zero sugar content. Flor De Caña are proud to be the world's first spirit to be Carbon Neutral and Fair Trade certified.

In Nicaragua's tropical climate, Flor de Caña matures at a higher temperature and humidity level than is usually experienced by other spirits, such as whiskey and cognac. The barrelhouses in which Flor de Caña is aged have natural ventilation, allowing for exposure to the surrounding high volcanic temperatures and Nicaragua's tropical humidity, resulting in a complex rum with a bold character beyond its age.

The proximity to the San Cristobel volcano also plays a key role in the high evaporation rate of the rum, called "the Angels Share" which is the result of the high interaction between the barrel and the rum, contributing to Flor De Caña's unique flavour.

FETTERCAIRN

Fettercairn's founder, Sir Alexander Ramsay was one of the Scottish landowners who campaigned to license Scotch Whisky distillation. In 1824 he was one of the first to apply for a license and the Fettercairn Distillery was opened. In 1973 Whyte & Mackay acquired the Fettercairn Distillery and it has remained with the company since.

Fettercairn is a pure spirit which is crafted by its unique stills and forged through temperature maturation. In the mid 1950s, the whisky makers at Fettercairn experimented, seeking ways to create a purer expression of their spirit. They found that pouring water down the still cooled the copper, increasing condensation inside so only the lightest vapours could rise for collection. They fashioned a copper tube around the top of the still to continually douse it with water – an ingenious and practical solution which remains unique in Scotch whisky making to this day.

THE GLASGOW DISTILLERY CO

Embracing the pioneering spirit of Scotland's first licensed distillers, The Glasgow Distillery Company adopts its name from one of Glasgow's original distilleries. In 1770, The Glasgow Distillery Company was founded at Dundashill and remained active until consequent closure at the beginning of the 20th Century.

In 2014 The Glasgow Distillery Company re-opened becoming the first Single Malt Whisky Distillery in Glasgow for over 100 years. The Glasgow Distillery Company is re-establishing the metropolitan Scotch Malt Whisky tradition alongside the great whisky regions and bringing Glasgow Malt Whisky back to life!

Founders Liam Hughes, Mike Hayward and Ian McDougall, hope that the establishment of the first Glasgow Distillery heralds the start of a whole new age of distilling in Glasgow ...

JURA™

SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY

Jura whisky comes from a place of contrasts. A wild shoreline of craggy rocks battered by the open sea on one side, to secluded sandy bays with calm waters on the other. The nature of the island is reflected in the whisky and you will taste the difference in every drop.

The Isle of Jura is nestled off the West Coast of Scotland. Jura is only 60 miles from Glasgow as the crow flies, but 60 miles has never felt so far away. With one road, one pub, one distillery and one big whirlpool, Jura is as beautiful as it is remote – which explains why the deer outnumber the 200 strong population by a country mile. George Orwell even went so far as to name it “the most un-get-able place” while he wrote his classic novel 1984 there.

The original distillery has stood in its spot since 1810 but fell into ruin. In 1963, Jura decided to resurrect it and with it, helped to revive the local community. Ever since then they have been using their incredible tall stills to create a unique range of whiskies. And this range is what set them apart. You see, while some just do sweet and others only do smoky, Jura do both. It may not be traditional, but they have their own way of doing things. It also means there is sure to be something that takes your fancy.

THE
HIGHLAND SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY

The saying 'fortune favours the brave' has never been truer than for Colin of Kintail. As a sign of gratitude for saving his life, King Alexander III awarded him the lands of Eilean Donan and the motto 'Lucco Non Uro' which translates to 'I Shine, Not Burn'. But most importantly Colin of Kintail and his Mackenzie Clan were given the right to bear a 12 pointed Royal Stag as their crest.

In 1867 Andrew and Charles Mackenzie became the new owners of The Dalmore distillery, bringing with them not only the iconic 12 pointed Royal Stag emblem, which has adorned every bottle of The Dalmore since, but also a formidable desire for success. Their passion for recreating an even better whisky would fuel a whole new era for The Dalmore.

For over 150 years, The Dalmore has set the standard in multicask maturation. Hand selected casks from the worlds finest bodegas and wineries are expertly curated to create a sumptuous and layered whisky of legendary finesse.

Boveda®

The global leader in 2-way humidity control.

Boveda is the international standard for premium tobacco storage, trusted in the cigar packaging of the industry's biggest brands. There are plenty of products that claim they are the same as Boveda, but there is only one 2-way humidity control device on the market. Boveda!

The same precision technology used in the music, electronics, medical devices and food storage industry is available in a range of tobacco-related humidity levels to give you a number of zero-maintenance options to create the ideal ageing environment. Based on the humidor quality and preferred humidity level – 49, 58, 62, 65, 69, 72, 75 and 84% (exclusively for seasoning) relative humidity levels are available.

The life of any Boveda is based on how hard it has to work. It is recommended to use one Boveda to every 25 cigars the humidor holds (even if it isn't full of cigars), and they'll last 2–3 months. And since Boveda will never humidify beyond the Relative Humidity that you've chosen, there's no such thing as "too much" Boveda. More Boveda will work more efficiently and last longer, meaning you can never buy more than you need.

2-way Humidity Control

Boveda works on the scientific principle that certain salts mixed with water will naturally add or remove humidity as necessary to maintain a predetermined RH. Boveda invented and patented the method that makes this scientific principle portable and practical for packages and containers. Boveda is the only product on the market that adds or removes moisture as needed, to maintain precise relative humidity within a package or container.

Available in a range of RH levels

The science behind Boveda allows us to create exact RH levels for the cigar smoker's preference and ambient storage conditions:

49, 58, 62, 65, 69, 72, 75 -

For storing and aging cigars.

84 - For humidor seasoning.

The Smoking Moses RazorCut impresses with its unmistakable design and the uniqueness of the combination of a hollow blade cutter and a movable razor blade. Due to the guideway of the razor blade, the knife not only moves from top to bottom, but and that's the innovation the knife is also pushed forward at the same time. This creates a real cutting movement and the cigar is actually cut, not pressed. The result is an extremely clean and fine cut!

This Italian quality product is delivered in a high quality, handcrafted leather case made in Austria embossed with the Smoking Moses logo.

The Smoking Moses RazorCut was nominated for "Best Accessory" at the Cigar Journal Trophy Awards 2020 & 2021.
